SHORTAGES OF ARMS CITED BY VAN FLEET

Washington (AP)—The long simmering controversy over ammunition supplies in Korea came in for fresh scrutiny today at two closed Senate committee hearings.

The dispute, which broke into the open last May, flared anew before the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday and prompted demands for punishment of anyone responsible for reported shortages.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retired commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, told the committee there have been ammunition shortages in some items ever since he took command 22 months ago.

Sometimes, he said, those shortages seriously hampered operations in Korea.

The day before, however, Van Fleet had told the House Armed Services Committee there are "no serious shortages" of ammunition in Korea.

After testifying to Van Fleet's testimony Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) wrote Secretary of Defense Wilson demanding prompt punishment for what Byrd called "criminal inefficiency."

Van Fleet was called before the Armed Services Committee again today and later before the Senate Appropriations Committee to go into more detail on the ammunition question.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far East commander, said in Seoul today ammunition has been rationed but "there was always enough whenever we needed to shoot it—in any quantity."

However, the Army's chief of Parks, told newsmen later Pentagon records showed no hand grenade shortages in Far East depots. Parks did not discount possible local shortages "due to distribution difficulties," but said there were enough grenades stocked to last 90 days under normal conditions.

Innocent Pleas Are Made by Storch And 3 Companions

Butler (AP)—Ernest Storch and three Pittsburgh negroes accused of killing his wife for $10,000 pleaded innocent to murder charges at their arraignment here.

They were held for the June grand jury without bail by Alderman John Clark at last night's hearing. The defendants, in addition to Storch, are: Richard Haines, 26; Walter Henderson, 26, and Russell Budd, 26.

The hearing for Ethel Henderson, who state police say was the contact between Storch and the Negroes, was postponed after Dist. Atty. Clark H. Painter said she was ill.

State police Cpl. James D. Berger testified Mrs. Storch was strangled by a length of electric cord at her home on Route 19 near Zellenople Feb. 24. He declared Budd and Henderson had re-enacted the slaying of the 49-year-old woman.

Sgt. John T. Burke told Alderman Clark that Storch had made a statement saying he "contemplated doing away with his wife and had contacted others to do it."

The state maintains Storch gave a $3,500 down payment to the three Negroes and had agreed to pay them a total of $10,000.

Comments on the Passing of Russian Chief Range Over Wide Field of Speculation

Condolences on the death of Premier Stalin of Russia, terse and plainly designated "official," were transmitted to Moscow on President Eisenhower's orders last night.

Other comment on the death of the man who led the Soviet Union and world communism ranged over a wide field of speculation about what will happen now and included some personal tributes.

The official U. S. message was sent at the President's direction by Secretary of State Dulles to Jacob D. Beam, U. S. charge d'affaires in Moscow, for delivery to the Kremlin. It said:

"The government of the United States tenders its official condolences to the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics on the death of Generalissimo Joseph Stalin, prime minister of the Soviet Union."

Observers noted that the message complied with requirements of international courtesy without including a word of sympathetic tributes.

In a different vein were messages sent by two officials of the United Nations, of which the USSR is a founding member.

Lester B. Pearson, U. N. General Assembly president and foreign secretary of Canada, telegraphed Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky that the world organization had "lost one of its founders and the Soviet peoples the man who was their indomitable leader in the common struggle against Nazi aggression."

Trygve Lie, U. N. secretary general, sent his personal condolences without mentioning his U. N. connection. The Soviet Union has refused to recognize Lie as secretary general since he gave full support to the U. N. action in Korea. He was reported also to have quarreled with Stalin during a Moscow visit in 1950.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea, at war with Communist forces, said, "I am sorry he as a human has died. We are fighting against the attitude and principles of Communist leaders and not against one individual person."

The comment of several U. S. senators and representatives showed concern over the possibility of further war.

Horse Race Betting Bill Approaching First Test

Harrisburg (AP)—A bill that would legalize horse race betting in Pennsylvania—if the general public votes in favor of it—is approaching its first test in the 1953 General Assembly.

"It definitely call the bill up for a committee vote in the near future," Chairman T. Luke Toomey (R-Perry) of the House Law and Order committee, said yesterday.

He said he thought the measure, introduced by Rep. Harold A. Yetzer (D-Berks) had an even chance of reaching the House floor.

The Yetzer bill calls for a general referendum in November on permitting three one-mile race tracks and five half-mile tracks.

Sen. A. H. Litzler (R-Clearfield), chairman of the Senate's Law and Order Committee, told a reporter "I don't think Pennsylvania is ready for this legislation."

ERIE FATALITY

Erie (AP)—An auto killed Fred Brock, 63, of Erie last night at a highway intersection west of here.

Intorree suggested a guard rail be placed in the center of the highway, adding:

"I feel that even if cars bounce back after striking this guard rail any possible collision would be less than the head-on crashes which have been occurring."

The investigating group, headed by Sen. Fred P. Hare (R-Somerset), hopes to learn the causes of the mounting death toll on the turnpike with a view to working out corrective legislation.

Many of the 17 persons who testified at the committee's first public hearing in Lancaster Wednesday said driver fatigue and speed are the two chief turnpike killers.

State Employees Renew Demand for Pay Boost

Harrisburg (AP)—The AFL-Pennsylvania State Council of Public Employees renewed a demand yesterday for a 10 per cent cost-of-living salary increase for Pennsylvania's 60,000 state workers.

The union demand was contained in a 10-point program presented to Gov. John S. Fine. Another point in the program included time and half time overtime pay for work in excess of 40 hours weekly.

Other points in the union's program for state workers included establishment of a five-day, 40-hour week; civil service status for all employees of state institutions; reclassification of jobs to provide "equal pay for equal work," and increase automobile mileage allowance from six to eight cents per mile.

FIVE BLOODY ASSAULTS ARE BEATEN BACK

Seoul (AP)—Determined South Korean soldiers today beat off five bloody Communist counterattacks and held grimly to a newly won, shell-scarred knob on Sniper Ridge on the Korean Central Front.

Chinese Red assaults, supported by stinging artillery and mortar fire, forced the South Koreans off the outpost briefly, but they later stormed back in a bitter hand-to-hand battle.

Allied soldiers made no effort to hide the fact that the death of any Communist was good news to them. But few thought it would have any effect on life in the bunkers of the bleak battlefield.

In the air, eight U. S. B-29 Superforts roared out scattered Red anti-aircraft fire and dumped 80 tons of bombs on Communist troop and supply centers along the battlefield. Crewmen reported good results.

Attacks Upon Truck Interests Denied By Railroad President

New York (AP)—The head of the Eastern Railroad President's Conference has denied that his group paid a public relations firm to engage in underhanded attacks on truck interests.

That testimony came yesterday from David I. Mackie, who said the railroads' position is that the cost of highway transportation should be shared equally among highway users.

He testified that the conference, which is supported by a number of railroads, is spending more than a million dollars this year.

Atty. Richardson Dilworth, of Philadelphia, who is counsel for a number of trucking firms and groups in a multi-million dollar damage suit against the Eastern railroads and the public relations firm of Carl Byoir Associates, has contended the railroads paid the Byoir firm more than one million dollars during a three-year period to run a secret campaign of vilification against truckers. Mackie was called as a witness in a continuing series of pre-trial dispositions to gather evidence before the case goes before a court.

Marital Law Declared At Lahore, Pakistan

Lahore, Punjab, Pakistan (AP)—Marital law was declared here today as surly anti-government mobs thronged the city's streets and paralyzed its normal activity. At least six of the demonstrators were killed and several injured in clashes with police yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Mohammed Azam Khan, military commander of the district, took over administrative control of the city of 849,000 population.

ATTITUDE IN CAPITAL ONE OF VIGILANCE

Washington (AP)—Changes in Soviet leadership following Premier Stalin's death seem certain to slow down the making of basic new foreign policy decisions promised by the Eisenhower administration.

By President Eisenhower's own estimate, the situation facing the U. S. government in the future—involving questions like a cold war, peace or new outbreaks of hot war—is so unpredictable that its attitude can only be one of sharp watchfulness.

Furthermore, in the opinion of other high government officials, this uncertainty may continue for many months.

Secretary of State Dulles, at the time of his nomination for the No. 1 Cabinet spot in the Eisenhower administration, said he would promptly undertake a review of U. S. policies all over the world. Dulles said that might take a year. He said many policies might be retained but he hoped that new and better ones could be found in most instances.

Th critical Far Eastern situation growing out of Communization of China and the Korean and Indochinese Wars is clearly one place where the administration is committed to produce some new approach if at all possible.

Dulles spoke at a time when the U. S. had to assume that Russia would continue pretty much on the same familiar lines indefinitely under the leadership of an aged but apparently healthy Stalin.

That assumption has now been destroyed.

The impact of its destruction on American and Allied interests depends primarily, of course, on what happens in Moscow with respect to 1. The choice of a successor, and 2. The policies of the new strong man and the extent to which he is able to make them effective.

Restaurant Man Guilty Of Misapplying Funds

Pittsburgh (AP)—A federal court jury last night convicted Michael D. Pihakis, 56-year-old Canonsburg restaurant owner, of misapplying $4,000 in funds of the First National Bank of Cecil.

After deliberating five hours the jury convicted Pihakis on two charges of misapplication and one of using the mails to defraud. He will be sentenced later.

Pihakis was the first of eight businessmen to be tried as a result of a $1,800,000 shortage which forced closing of the Washington County Bank. The huge defalcation was uncovered in 1950 when John F. Wagner, cashier and vice president, committed suicide.

The Canonsburg man was accused of getting Wagner to cash checks totalling $4,000 although he didn't have sufficient funds to cover them. Pihakis claimed he had a credit arrangement at the bank which made his dealings legal.

PRESIDENT HAS VISIT FROM ANTHONY EDEN

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower and Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, conferred at the White House today, presumably discussing among other things the implications of Premier Stalin's death on the cold war.

There were reports even as they met that a British move to tighten controls on strategic shipments to Communist China was already shaping up from Eden's talks with American officials.

Epidemic of Colds Interferes With Workers Soliciting Funds In Annual Red Cross Drive

More Snow Saturday Forecaster Promises

Pittsburgh (AP)—About an inch of snow, which surprised motorists and also the weather bureau early today, tied traffic in a typical winter knot for the second consecutive day.

There'll be more snow tomorrow, according to the weather forecast. Tonight will be cloudy and colder, with the mercury dipping to 25. It will climb to 38 tomorrow.

Highways and secondary roads are snow-covered and slippery. Autos and trucks stalled on hills and some buses ran late.

P.U.C. ENDS FIFTH ROUND OF HEARINGS

Harrisburg (AP)—The Public Utility Commission today concluded its fifth round of hearings on the application of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Pittsburgh, for increased retail gas rates.

The company asked for a $4,245,000 rate boost last June. It has been granted a $2,220,000 temporary increase. The commission is taking testimony into the reasonableness of the higher increase.

A preliminary report from the borough volunteers conducting the house to house canvass for the Red Cross Fund, shows pitifully small collections through Thursday.

The poor results obtained to date are tempered somewhat by the fact that a wave of colds and sickness has swept the town and many of the volunteers have been ill and unable to properly cover their territory. Then, too, there have been the customary number of persons who blandly inform the volunteer callers: "My husband gave at his place of employment."

In the first case, the woman who said her husband had given at his place of employment was referring to a local federal office where no collections had been made; since it was plainly stated that no funds would be solicited in offices, factories or such places. In the case of the girl who "gave in December" the reference was to a campaign in the schools for Junior Red Cross memberships.

It is hoped tomorrow and Monday will see the borough canvass renewed with more vigor and ultimate success. Folks are asked to be ready for the call of their neighbor volunteer, to have their minds made up what amount they can pledge or give and be ready to increase.

TOP SOVIET LEADERS NAMED AS COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE RITES FOR "MAN OF STEEL"

By EDDY GILMORE and THOMAS P. WHITNEY

Moscow (AP)—The body of Prime Minister Joseph V. Stalin, felled by a stroke and heart failure at 73, was removed to Moscow's beautiful Hall of Columns today to lie in state. A funeral service befitting one of the most powerful men in history is in preparation.

The Soviet "man of steel," who ruled over a sixth of the earth's surface and dominated a third of its peoples, died last night in the Kremlin four days after being stricken. Death came at 9:50 p. m. (1:50 p. m. EST) and was announced to the Russian people eight hours later. Stalin lay paralyzed and in deep coma at the end.

There was no hint as to who would succeed this man, who led the Soviet Union's 200 million people for 29 years and called the plays for Communists the world over. But a joint statement from the Communist party and the government called for continuance of such policies as strengthening the nation's armed forces, increased vigilance at home and tighter bonds with Communists abroad.

At this stage there is no prospect of any change in the policies Stalin pursued.

This afternoon a motor hearse left the St. Spassky Gate in the Kremlin. While thousands assembled on Red Square to see it, the hearse moved slowly from the Kremlin to the Hall of Columns, bearing Stalin's coffin.

Immense heaps of flowers and wreaths surrounded it. Russians began filing past to gaze for the last time at the man who led them to victory over Nazi Germany. Thousands were in line when the doors opened.

The processions for those wishing to say "vidaniya," goodbye, will continue day and night until the funeral. A commission headed by Nikita S. Khrushchev now is working on funeral plans. No date has been announced for the final services nor has there been any word where Stalin is to be buried.

The Hall of Columns, in the House of Trade Unions on Red Square, is only a few hundred yards from the mausoleum in Red Square where V. I. Lenin, Stalin's predecessor and the father of Russian Communism, lies embalmed in a glass coffin.

The death of the man who sparked the development of Russia from a near-feudal farmland to a great industrial power exceeded only by the United States was first announced by Moscow radio at 4:07 a. m. today local time 8:37 p. m. EST Thursday, in a broadcast beamed to Soviet provincial newspapers.

Two hours later, Moscow radio's star announcer, Yuri Levitan, told the saddened nation that its chief had succumbed. Levitan twice read both the official announcement and the final bulletin from the 10 Kremlin doctors who had been in constant attendance on Stalin since his stroke Sunday. The radio then played the solemn last movement of Tchaikovsky's "Pathétique" symphony.

The Russian people appeared stunned and grief-stricken by the news. To many, Stalin had seemed like a father. "Excuse me," (Turn to Page Seven)

Return of Russian MIG Is Demanded by Poland

Copenhagen, Denmark (AP)—In a tough note to Denmark, Poland today demanded the return of a Russian-built MIG 15 jet fighter plane in which a 24-year-old Polish pilot died his Communist-ruled homeland. Warsaw asked for the pilot back, too, but said he was not so important.

The daring air force lieutenant landed his plane—the first MIG15 ever to fall undamaged into Western hands—yesterday on a hazardous short runway on the Danish island of Bornholm.

Danish and British air experts from Copenhagen were giving the plane a thorough once-over. Within a few hours after the plane whizzed from behind the Iron Curtain, these experts were tearing the craft down to learn its secrets.

Few If Any Consumer Prices Will Rise Following Removal of Government Lids

Washington (AP)—Top-ranking retailers today gave assurance that few if any consumer prices will rise following the swift removal of government ceilings.

Members of the American Retail Federation, which closed a two-day conference here last night, told an interviewer that sales competition—already warm and likely to grow warmer this spring—will restrain price boosts.

This project, they said, applies to the major household appliances decontrolled yesterday and to the hundreds of food, clothing and other items decontrolled in weekly batches over the past month.

Items representing only about 34 per cent of the consumer price index still remain under Office of Stabilization ceilings. They include coffee, beer, East Coast fuel oil, garbage disposers and hot water heaters. These also may be decontrolled within a week or two.

Besides household appliances, other major items decontrolled yesterday included bread and bakery products, new automobiles and commercial vehicles, laundry and linen supply services—all with a total sales volume of about $5 billion dollars a year.

Price Chief Joseph H. Froschill said he looked for higher prices for bread, household appliances, laundry and dry cleaning and automobile parts.

Automobile makers, with the exception of Studebaker, withheld comment on the possible effect on passenger car prices. Studebaker said there would be no change in the prices of its cars. The industry generally is known to feel that sales volume in the next few weeks will determine what happens to car prices.

Recreational Meeting In Tionesta Monday

As suggested by those attending the recreation meeting held in Tionesta a few weeks ago, a committee meeting to list present recreational facilities and make further plans for a community recreation program in western Forest County will be held in the Court House at Tionesta on Monday, according to extension representatives Miss Esther Weaver, and Russell M. Smith.

This committee consists of representatives of various civic, religious, and social organizations in the western part of the county. It is planned to make a survey of available recreation facilities and resources, such as trained personnel, leaders, buildings, equipment, and outdoor opportunities.

Joe Cardenuto, recreation specialist of The Pennsylvania State College, will help with the discussion and planning.

High School Class of 1954 Adds to Dramatic Laurels

Working with an amusing play and a well-chosen cast, Kathryn Martin, director of dramatics in Warren High School, chalked up another hit last night in the sold-out performance of the junior class presentation of Robert Ray's "Campus Quarantine."

Filled with laughs from beginning to end, the three-act comedy provided for a variety of talents and Miss Martin seemed to have secured just the right person for each characterization. Weeks of patient rehearsal resulted in a practically letter-perfect performance by the following members of the Class of 1954:

Harry Walker and Robert Fitzgerald, working their way through college by waiting on tables at the Kanna Jamma sorority house and romantically interested in two of its residents; Janis Carlson, Suzanne Pearson, Patricia Harrington and Constance Barto, the real figures behind the whole plot; Nancy Zock, their house mother.

David Gibb and Keith Otterbein, who also have heart-throbs within the Kanna Jamma walls; Timothy Nelson and Margaret Eaton, who supply the professional touch when trouble descends in the form of chicken pox, and Chase Putnam, famous football hero who comes to town and further complicates matters.

If any single fault could be singled out in the production, it would be the fact that many of the play's best punch lines were entirely lost in the gales of laughter which repeatedly swelled through the audience and, at times, brought the action on the stage to a standstill until order was restored beyond the footlights.

The entire action took place in the dining room of the sorority house, created by additional juniors working under the supervision of John Stachowiak, faculty advisor. Many hours of designing, papering, painting, and assembling of stage and personal properties went on backstage in preparation for the production and were readily apparent in the completed set.

Sharing in the plaudits for another successful junior show were many committees who had a hand in the production, publicity, and financial phases that make for smoother action and round out any public performance.

Receiving a generous hand for their music in conjunction with the show were Director Harry Summers and members of the WHS Orchestra.

Miss Martin was called before the curtain between acts to receive a token of appreciation from her cast and crews, a handsome piece of luggage and beautiful red roses.

Warren High School Plans Show March 13

Bill Atkins and Chase Putnam will combine their talents to write the script and act as masters of ceremonies for the Warren High School "Vaudeville Show" to be held Friday the thirteenth of this month.

The show, which is sponsored by the school's Student Council, will take the place of the annual talent assembly held on a competitive basis last year.

Chuck Johnson, chairman of the council's special activities committee, has announced the following numbers for the show selected during auditions:

"Five-Foot-Two" and "The Hoe-Down Shuffle" will be played on the accordion by Marilyn Armstrong; Shirleyann Johnson will

Wayne Smetanka Is Third Rifleman To Win Coveted Award

Wayne Smetanka, 17-year-old junior and son of Andrew Smetanka of 8 Parker street, has become the third Warren High rifleman to receive the top award of Distinguished Rifleman, given by the National Rifle Association's Junior Division.

Before receiving this title, Wayne had gained the recognition of pro-marksmen, marksmen first class and sharpshooter expert, the latter award being received on March 28, 1952.

At the present time Smetanka is shooting with the Warren High Rifle Club and is active in the Youngsville Legion rifle team.

Qualifications for Distinguished Rifleman are shot on targets bearing five separate bullseyes, with two shots at each bull for a possible 20. In prone and sitting positions, each bull must score 18 or better; kneeling and standing, 16 or better. Ten such targets are required for each of the four positions, and must be witnessed by an adult.

The awards include a certificate, a gold and enamel medal, a gold and enamel lapel pin, and a year's membership in the Senior Division NRA and a year's subscription to the "American Rifleman" magazine.

Others who have earned the honor are Ronald Hook, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hook, Clarendon R. D. 1, and Richard Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Schuler, 20 Buchanan street.

Brother of Murdered Girl Is Still in Jail

Edinburg (AP)—Jean Christoff, whose 21-year-old sister was strangled two weeks ago, waited in jail today for further questioning after undergoing a psychiatric examination.

Dist. Atty. Fred J. Peas of Cambria County ordered the examination yesterday because, he said, "we suspected that Jean was mentally unbalanced." Results were not disclosed.

Christoff, 24-year-old former Carnegie Tech student, is not under arrest in his sister's death but is held in Cambria County jail after pleading guilty to burglary charges.

Authorities have not issued an official verdict on the girl's death. The Pennsylvania State College road was found strangled with a dress belt Feb. 17 in her home at nearby Frugality.

JURY SELECTED FOR STEVE NELSON TRIAL

Pittsburgh (AP)—The U. S. District Court trial of Steve Nelson and four other Communists moved closer to hearing of testimony today following selection of a jury.

Government and defense attorneys selected nine men and three women to serve on the jury yesterday after four days of mulling over 160 names.

Accused with Nelson, former Western Pennsylvania Communist Party Chairman are Benjamin Careathers, William Albertson, Irving Weissman and James H. Dolsen, all party aides.

Legion Will Initiate 55 New Members and Eat Spaghetti

Chief Cornplanter Post of the American Legion is expecting a large turn-out of members Monday night, when 55 new members of the Post will be initiated.

The meeting, which is scheduled for 8 p. m., will be preceded by a spaghetti supper at 6:30, and there will be special entertainment following the meeting.

Plans for the Legion's annual Easter egg hunt and its location will be discussed at the meeting, as well as the Keystone boys' camp to be held at Lock Haven Teachers' College this coming summer, and plans for the formation of a drum and bugle corps among local Legion members.

Bob Lundberg is chairman of the supper committee, assisted by John Dahler and Ed Hileman. The correct number to call for making reservations is 2383, a mistake having been made on the cards. The supper is complimentary for the members.

GETTYSBURG SCHOLARSHIPS

Gettysburg — Establishment of seven 4-year scholarships totalling $8,000 to be awarded high school seniors for study at Gettysburg College was announced today by Dr. Walter C. The Post Office Bulletin Board

Items of public and staff interest from the Warren Post Office

The annual auto-license renewal period, now with us, has brought the usual flood of problems, and complaints from patrons who do not understand those problems.

The envelope containing the license application bears these instructions, "Postmaster or Carrier: Please destroy if not deliverable within your local postal area." Suppose you're in Florida when this application arrives. You've left a forwarding address at the post office so you wonder why the application doesn't reach you. The reason, of course, is that it could not be forwarded. It was destroyed as instructed by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles because by no stretch of the imagination could a Florida address be considered "within the local postal area" of Warren.

Now suppose you had sent in your license application before going to Florida; or perhaps you've moved from Conewango Avenue to Market Street without noting this move on the application when you sent it in. Your license plate arrives at the Warren post office with these instructions (please note the difference) "If undeliverable as addressed return to Bureau of Motor Vehicles." The postmaster has no alternative but to return the plate.

Occasionally, very occasionally, a cautious individual realizing the strictness and meaning of these instructions will ask a post office official what to do about it so he'll be sure to get his license plate and prevent the trouble of straightening the whole thing out with Harrisburg. If he's going to be away only a short time (no permanent change of address) this can be done by having his mail delivered to his office or to a neighbor, by arrangement, during his absence instead of having it forwarded by the post office. Simple, isn't it, but this can prevent a lot of inconvenience.

A similar situation prevails as to State and Federal checks. Unless a formal change-of-address has been filed at the post office these checks must be returned to the sending office.

The following notice, now posted in the post office lobby, requires wider publicity:

For filling possible future vacancies in the Custodial staff, this building, the Assistant Postmaster will accept applications for the following positions: Custodial Laborer (janitor), annual salary; Charman, hourly rate; Charwoman, hourly rate. Vacancies will be filled in accordance with the Veterans' Preference Act. Veterans and wives or widows of veterans will be given first consideration. Those interested in either part-time or full-time work of this nature should file their applications immediately.

STALIN'S DEATH AND U. S. POLICY

"Stalin's death would not lessen the need for eternal vigilance on our part."

This was the warning of Gov. James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, who was Secretary of State from 1945 to 1947," as quoted by Peter Edson, NEA Service Washington correspondent, who says that Byrnes was generally reputed the author of the "get tough with Russia" policy.

Byrnes asserted his belief that Stalin's death should mean no essential change in the U. S. policy.

Regarding a successor to the premier Byrnes said that in 1946 he expected V. Molotov to succeed Stalin, believing at that time that Molotov was even more unfriendly toward this country than Stalin. Byrnes says that later Stalin indicated a preference for Georgi Malenkov. Like Stalin, he says, Malenkov is a man of few words with a devious mind.

Asked what advice he had to give as to America's policy in the present situation Byrnes quoted directly from his book, "Speaking Frankly," and said this is still his opinion on the subject:

"We must not indulge in idle threats. We must not start anything we do not intend to finish. We must meet aggression and pressure with firm resistance. At the same time we must be just and objective in our analysis of each situation.

"We should always keep the hand of friendship extended. And we should constantly make clear our earnest desire to live at peace with our neighbors."

Washington observers recalled that former President Truman, alone of the living officials who have dealt directly with the Russians, has thought that there was hope of the Communist regime falling apart after Stalin's illness or death.

BE A JOY SCOUT NEXT WEEK

When March 9 rolls around, you'll want to start the day with your brightest smile—and keep smiling all week. The reason? March 9-14 marks the 5th annual observance of National Smile Week!

Joe E. Brown, star of the entertainment world, is again chairman and sparkplug of the National Smile Week Committee. Joe's own ear-to-ear smile is the perennial "trade mark" of National Smile Week.

"There's nothing complicated about Smile week," explains Joe. "A smile makes everybody happier. This special week merely reminds people to smile and spread some joy. In fact, we refer to the people who smile as Joy Scouts!"

Joe adds, "Sure, you've got troubles. Many of us have plenty to wrinkle our brows. But worries and woes can be made easier to bear—with a smile. Be a Joy Scout for a week. Give your smile in person, send your smile in a letter, or telephone your smile. The important thing is to make others happy. You will make yourself happier at the same time. So go ahead—smile!"

During National Smile Week join the Joy Scouts and cheer up. A Joy Scout has no dues to pay, no meetings to attend. All you have to do is—SMILE. And a smile doesn't cost a cent.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

And being let go, they went to their own . . . —Acts 4:23.

Today's Message

Bound! Bound hand and feet! Most of us, most of the time, are just that. But when we are let go, when by some circumstance we get out of our various prisons, when we are for once free to do what we really wish, watch us then! For then we go to our own. Then we go where we fit, where we belong!

People who at last are "let go" from financial burdens, go into snobbishness or spendthriftness—or service. All depends on which is "their own." People who at last are "let go" from subordinate places in life become, "diest in a little authority," dominating—or decent. All depends on which is "their own."

Suppose now that you were "let go." Suppose you: true self could run free course. Where would you go? To your own company. You would seek your level. It is your voluntary association that counts. That shows you up—or down. Once men are really free, do they "let go" God and good and graciousness? Those early Christians did that! They went to their own company, which was God's company, the company of the world's saviours, the company of those who lift the inner levels of life!

—JOHN M. VERSTEEG

Today's Prayer

Here And There

Here is a story from The Warren Evening Times of March 6, 1953, that will doubtless be read with much interest by all churchmen and especially members of Grace Methodist, on the east side:

Eight years ago a brave band of enthusiastic workers conceived the idea of a Methodist Episcopal church situated on the east side, then sparsely settled and quite suburban.

The First Church was a long distance for some of them to go, and the congregation was a large one. "Let us at least have a Sunday school on our side of the creek," they argued and the justice of the plan was so obvious that many were interested.

Accordingly a chapel was built on a commodious lot purchased at the corner of Prospect street and what is now Pennsylvania avenue east; a small, unpretentious structure it was, but still a home.

Rev. G. H. Humason was the pastor of First Church at that time and active in raising funds to complete the work, which was eventually accomplished and the chapel opened.

The Sunday School grew rapidly to such proportions that a separate organization was formed and the Grace Methodist Episcopal church cast loose from the protecting arms of the mother church to sink or swim upon its own merits.

If anyone doubts as to which it has been, his attention is invited to a beautiful little church that is to be dedicated on the 22d of the current month, and to a live, growing, and enthusiastic congregation of nearly 300 persons, who have certainly displayed remarkable confidence in undertaking such a task.

The Rev. E. C. Delaplaine told an Evening Times reporter that everything would be in readiness for the dedication, for which an attractive program is being arranged, the chief feature being, of course, the appearance of Bishop McCabe.

Bureaucrats Quarrel 9 Years Over Allotting Costs of Dams

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—This is the story of how two government agencies have been arguing for nine years over an allocation of $490 million, without being able to come to any agreement.

Half a billion dollars is, of course, a considerable wad of spending money, even in government circles, and well worth arguing about. But the sad prospect of this particular case is that the bureaucrats will be arguing about it for another nine years unless Congress or some higher authority in the Executive end of government bumps a few heads together.

The two agencies involved in this dispute are Army's Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation in the Department of Interior. The story of their unresolved fight has just been brought to light by the Missouri River Basin Survey Commission, in whose area the dispute takes place.

It concerns the allocation of costs for hydroelectric power, irrigation, recreation, flood control and navigation on six multipurpose dams on the main stem of the Missouri River. Total cost of all six is estimated at $1.1 billion.

FOR all six of these dams, the Corps of Engineers would assign $658 million to power costs; Bureau of Reclamation $344 million. Difference, $314 million.

For flood control and navigation, Corps of Engineers would assign costs of $279 million; Bureau of Reclamation $769 million. Difference, $490 million.

For irrigation, Corps of Engineers would assign $173 million; Bureau of Reclamation nothing.

For recreation, fish and wildlife conservation, municipal water supply and miscellaneous other functions, Corps of Engineers would assign cost of $3 million; Bureau of Reclamation nothing.

Add the $314 million, the $173 million, and the $3 million, and it balances the $490 million.

The importance of this difference is that power and irrigation costs of a multipurpose dam are reimbursable. That is, a large share of the cost has to be paid back by the beneficiaries—the people who buy the power or use the water on their farms.

Flood control and navigation costs, on the other hand, are not reimbursable. The taxpayer foots the bill for the entire amount. The Corps of Engineers therefore tries to allocate as much as possible to power and irrigation, so as to reduce the ultimate net cost of each project.

Bureau of Reclamation, on the other hand, is interested in having as much of the cost as possible allocated to flood control and navigation in order to sell electricity and water at lower rates.

THE situation under which this half-billion-dollar difference developed is traced back to the 1944 flood-control act. This act authorized the so-called Pick-Sloan Plan for building Missouri River Basin projects by joint Engineer-Reclamation work. The Engineers were to build the main-stem, multipurpose dams. Reclamation was to market the power and water.

Department of Interior claims that in assigning to it the responsibility for marketing the power, Congress also gave it the responsibility for allocating costs of a dam to power or flood control.

The issue came to a real head in 1949 when Bureau of Reclamation set its power rate for 1950 in the Missouri Basin at five-and-a-half mills per kilowatt hour. This rate was based on Bureau of Reclamation cost allocations on dams where power was then produced.

This allocation has been protested by the former chief of engineers, Lt.-Gen. Lewis A. Pick. But ex-Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus stuck to his gun.

UNCLE EF

Whenever you meet a man who boasts of being a wonderful cook, Aunt Molly Harmsworth says you can mark it down that he has a patient wife and tolerant friends.

The entire property, including lot, church and parsonage is valued at $22,000, $14,000 of which is in the new building now about to be dedicated.

Terse, Tart and Timely: Robins and crows have not been quite as noisy the past couple mornings as they were during the touch of spring a couple weeks ago . . . A reader reminds that the coming summer will mark the tenth anniversary of the entry of Warren men in the Pennsylvania State Guards, a home unit which took over local duties when the National Guard went into active service . . . Quite a few petitions yet to be filed by prospective candidates on both parties between now and five o'clock on the afternoon of March 16th . . . The large number of people in attendance at the services Thursday and the many beautiful floral pieces received at the funeral home attested to the high esteem in which the late Harry Batson was held by friends and neighbors in Youngsville and vicinity where he had resided most of the 78 years of his life . . . Smethport and area residents contributed 145 pints of blood, five short of the quota, to the Red Cross Bloodmobile on its last visit . . . A deserving project that will doubtless be well supported is the Night of Harmony sponsored by the Youngsville Kiwanians this evening as a benefit for the Jamboree fund.

The population of Formosa is estimated at 9,500,000.

Doctor Urges Caution In Use of Wonder Drugs

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
A Newfeatures Writer

A famous pediatrician is warning mothers that the life-saving wonder drugs can be overworked. Some mothers, says Dr. Bela Schick, world renowned pediatrician and originator of the revolutionary "Schick Test," seem to feel that unless a doctor injects a shot of penicillin into a feverish child, his ministrations are incomplete. Faith in the wonder drug is so absolute that many parents consider antibiotics essential in the treatment of simple colds. Says Dr. Schick:

"Overzealous parents, anxious to see their sick children cured in a matter of hours, may be endangering the lives of their youngsters."

As reported in "The 2 to 5 World Newsletter," Dr. Schick, who will soon have a million-dollar pediatric center erected in his name at the Yeshiva University College of Medicine in New York, goes on to say:

"Frequent penicillin shots and repeated doses of any of the antibiotics help bacteria slowly to build up a resistance to these drugs. Then, at a time when a serious infectious disease threatens, these life-saving drugs may be ineffective because of prior indiscriminate use."

Dr. Schick cautions mothers "not to insist upon the doctor administering penicillin each time their children come down with colds. Let the attending physician decide whether the illness is serious enough to warrant penicillin."

aureomycin, or any of the other "wonder drugs."

The too-casual parent also comes in for some valuable advice from this famous pediatrician:

"Parents should not allow their children—especially those under three—to mingle with persons who have, or are just recovering from, colds."

Picking up a ruler from his desk and measuring off a short span, Dr. Schick explained:

"What most parents overlook is the relatively short distance a germ has to travel to reach the alveoli (air cells) of the lungs of a little one, as compared to the distance from an adult's nose to his lungs. Sniffles in an adult can induce pneumonia in a small child."

"For instance—are you sure that your cleaning woman or your baby sitter hasn't a background of tuberculosis? She may not be a menace to your health, but the hardest youngster probably isn't hardy enough to escape tuberculosis bacilli. And while meningitis is rarely associated with tuberculosis by most people, in young children the tuberculosis bacillus often does invade the membranous covering of the brain."

The 75-year-old chief of pediatrics at Beth-El Hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., has this further piece of advice for mothers concerned with current epidemics of the mysterious "virus":

"Parents with a passion for use of 'wonder drugs' should remember that, contrary to common belief, antibiotics, so effective against filterable bacteria, are not the 100 per cent satisfactory answer to combat the 'virus.'"

More Cattle, Sheep, Chickens on Farms

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania has more cattle, sheep and chickens but fewer hogs, horses, mules and turkeys than a year ago, the State Department of Agriculture announced following a January 2 inventory by the Federal School Crop Reporting service, made with the assistance of vocational school pupils, teachers and supervisors.

Although farmers of the state are maintaining a record number of cattle, there was a decline of six per cent in the value of all livestock between January 1, 1952 and January 1, 1953, the survey revealed. Farm value of all livestock and poultry this January was $445 million compared with $445 million a year previous, the Department said.

Livestock numbers reported included 1,897,000 cattle and calves, highest in 60 years and valued at $369,915,000. They include 989,000 cows two years old and older kept for milk, worth $271,975,000. Hogs totaled 676,000 valued at $16,968,000; there were 254,000 sheep and lambs worth $4,699,000; the 76,000 horses and colts were valued at $5,320,000 and 9,000 mules were worth $801,000. There $48,440,000 and 224,000 turkeys valued at $1,635,000.

The Changing Landscape

RALPH G. ECKERT
Soil Conservation Service
Warren

Hello folks. If the old saying, "If March comes in like a Lion it will go out like a Lamb", holds true I know quite a few people that are looking for the lambs. If they don't soon find them I am afraid that there will be a lot less sheep around later as more wool will be needed for protection from the wind, snow, cold, and rain.

During the heavy rains Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday I got to thinking about the increased amount of erosion caused by the rains. I saw the evidence of this erosion in the Conewango Creek in the very muddy color. I saw water as it ran off of good pasture, clear and free of soil particles. Where then did the Conewango get its change in color?

But most of it's from the unprotected fields, poor pastures, and idle farms with the good cover gone and gullies taking over the fields. Areas like this line the course of the creek from its start to end where it empties its silt and debris laden load into the Allegheny River which is already overburdened with what was once good top-soil, lime and fertilizer plus some of the sub-soil. From there it will be carried down and deposited where it will do all too good a job of clogging navigation channels in the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico where, at a cost of thousands of dollars, it will have to be removed.

I wonder just how many people, when they see the rain, realize exactly what an important factor the individual raindrop plays in soil erosion throughout our country. When we consider that approximately 90% of our farmland is sloping this factor becomes more and more important. The discussion that follows will show why sloping land is affected more than level land.

Extensive research has been carried on, by W. D. Ellison, U. S. Navy and Forest G. Bell and Bert D. Robinson of the SCS, in erosion caused by raindrops and during rainstorms. When a heavy rainstorm, like we had this week, hits the bare ground or a poor pasture there are two forces that work on the soil. First the explosive force of the raindrop when it hits the ground and second the flowing water that carries the exploded soil particles away.

We will continue from this point next week as there is too much to be covered in just one item. See you all next week.

In the Middle Ages, a knight often carried his lady's glove as a token of his devotion.

Why Did Kremlin Reveal Stalin's Illness?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Will Stalin's passing from Russian power lead to Revolution? Did Malenkov start his bid for power too late? Is Molotov a serious contender for Stalin's place? These questions are discussed in the following article written exclusively for NEA Service by Dr. Albert Parry, noted authority on Russia and Chairman of the Department of Russian Studies at Colgate University.

By ALBERT PARRY
Written for NEA Service

New York—(NEA)—Why didn't the Kremlin conceal Stalin's grave illness?

George Orwell in his novel "1984" wrote that it was possible for clever and ruthless leaders to run an empire in Big Brother's name for decades after his death.

Many Americans concluded from "1984" that this was precisely the course Stalin's associates would follow: conceal Stalin's death, and run the empire as if he were alive and all-powerful.

The fact that they are not concealing it means that their organization is after all not strong and smooth enough to run the Soviet empire on the lines of "1984," behind the fiction of Big Brother's ever-felt presence.

Chances are that Georgi Malenkov, in recent times second in command to Stalin, would have liked to do just that—pretend that Stalin is well and active, even use actors to impersonate him occasionally at public parades, and himself run the empire.

But Malenkov's opponents in the Kremlin are shrewd, too. They know that Malenkov, though strong, has not been built up by Stalin and himself sufficiently and soon enough to try this ruse.

These opponents are Laurenti Beria, chief of the secret police, and Nikolai Bulganin, spokesman for the Red army. Beria had been an ally of Malenkov in his dislike of Vyacheslav Molotov who used to be Number Two in the Kremlin. With the aid of Beria, Malenkov elbowed Molotov out of his position. Then, not to be beholden to Beria, Malenkov began to push Beria down the ladder.

But he had not pushed him down enough when Stalin's illness came.

Now Beria, still in power, has his chance, particularly if he allies himself with Bulganin.

This would pit the secret police and the armed forces against Malenkov's mighty party and state apparatus.

Molotov does not really count now; he is in his middle sixties—too old for the sharp struggle with his younger enemies; he has no apparatus and no physical force of any kind.

But while Malenkov hasn't been built up sufficiently to take over Stalin's place, neither has Beria and Bulganin. All these respective forces may turn out to be quite evenly matched. Thus a real struggle may develop at the very top of the Kremlin.

Already Malenkov has recently attacked Beria for his alleged slowness in not ferreting out from among the Kremlin's doctors those supposed poisoners of Soviet leaders.

Already Malenkov's Pravda has attacked Izvestia for harboring some of his, Malenkov's enemies.

The fact is, nevertheless, that Izvestia did dare to harbor them. The fact is one of struggle, of faction against faction in the Kremlin's palaces. How long will they be able to keep the struggle within those palaces? How long before they will have to open their doors and windows and appeal to the people at large, to more and more classes to support them one against the other?

I don't think they will be able to avoid a civil war. This, though horrible in itself, may finally give the Russian people a chance to decide their own fate, against those leaders and in favor of real freedom and democracy, and grant the rest of the world the peace we all want.

PERRY AREA SCHOOL

Contracts for the financing of a $1,124,712 new Commodore Perry Joint Area School, which will be constructed just south of Sheakleyville, were signed at Harrisburg Monday. Members of the joint school board and the Pennsylvania Public School Building Authority signed the agreements under which the authority will finance the project. The new 12-grade school will be built for 750 students of six Mercer County School districts: Sheakleyville borough and Sandy Creek, Deer Creek, Otter Creek, Perry and Salem townships.

VETERANS' INFORMATION

Questions and Answers for Korean Vets

Q—As a World War II veteran, I bought a house with a GI loan. I had to sell it when I was called back into the armed forces after the Korean conflict began. Now that I have been discharged again, am I entitled to another GI loan to purchase another house?

A—It is possible for you to get new and full loan guarantee rights under the new Korean GI Bill. You should apply to the VA regional office for a new certificate of entitlement.

Q—I have a service-connected disability which has been rated zero percent by the VA. My ailment is bothering me, and I think I might be entitled to compensation payments. How do I go about applying?

A—You should present evidence to the VA and request a review of your rating.

Q—I'm planning to attend college under the Korean GI Bill. What happens if my entitlement runs out while I'm just part way through a school semester? Would I be allowed to continue?

A—If your entitlement expires after the half-way mark of the semester, you would be permitted to complete that semester with Government financial assistance. Q—May I train under the Korean GI Bill in a school outside the United States?

A—Yes, provided your course will be taken in an approved institution of higher learning.

ans Announced or Girl Scouts' irthday Function

On March 12, Girl Scouts throughout the nation will be celebrating the birthday anniversary of their organization. It was 41 years ago that a group of girls with Juliette Low in Atlanta, Ga., formed the first troop of Girl Scouts.

On March 14, Girl Scouts of the Warren-Forest County Council will celebrate by having birthday parties in various sections of their area.

Meeting in Beaty Junior High school gym, for a rally planned from 2:00 until 4:30 p. m., will be District 1, comprising Conestoga, East Allegheny and Home-et neighborhoods; District 2, Russell, Scandia and North Warren neighborhoods; District 3, onesta and Tidouette; and District 4, West Allegheny and Pleasant neighborhoods.

Highlight of this party will be a presentation of the Juliette Low Birthday Pennies, which each troop has been saving for the past year. This fund is sent to the National Juliette Low Fund and, subsequently, is used to promote international Girl Scouting throughout the world.

Mrs. Arthur Chapman and Mrs. W. Rohrer are chairmen for the fair, which will also include the giving of refreshments. Similar parties will be held by District 3, Sugar Grove; District 4, Conestoga; District 5 and 7, Jeffers.

PARENT-TEACHER UNIT PLANS DINNER

Members of St. Joseph's Parent-Teacher Unit are reminded of the annual tureen dinner to be held in the clubrooms at 6:00 p. m. Tuesday. The committee asks that each member bring a tureen, her own table service and rolls, the meat, coffee and dessert to be provided.

It is urged that everyone be on time, so that parents may visit the classrooms before the business session. Mrs. Freda Davis and Rhea Eggleston are co-chairmen for the dinner.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP

Special feature of the young people's group meeting at Calvary Baptist church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday will be a flannel-graph given by Donna Hewitt. Members are reminded to attend the pre-session prayer meeting held a quarter of hour before the regular gathering.

Last Sunday, the group enjoyed slides of the Baptist Conference church in the Bronx, shown by Pastor Fred Miller. They were prepared by the Rev. Harold Howard, pastor of the Bronx church, which is sometimes called The League of Nations church.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

Warren County Youth for Christ will meet at 8:00 p. m. Saturday at Bethel EUB church, the Rev. George Atkins and his gospel company from Jonestown having charge of the program. This group is carrying on a ministry in the vicinity of Indiantown Gap and is heard regularly by radio. The local group announces its contest is continuing and all members and friends are welcome.

The bride-elect was graduated from Warren High School and St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, Erie. Her fiancé was graduated from Cathedral Preparatory High School, attended Gannon College in Erie and Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. An early Spring wedding has been planned.

Busy Session Held By Russell WCTU

Russell-The March meeting of WCTU was held at the home of Frances Page, with Mrs. Martha Houghwot presiding and Joyce Briggs as secretary pro tem. After the song, "Blessed Assurance," Mrs. Russell led devotions on the theme "Is Heaven Real To Us?"

The treasurer reported work done by the hosiery committee and receipts paid in by it; Light Lane dues were paid and the Union Signal sent to a foreign missionary. Communications were read from Mrs. Cora Wesner, a former member now living in California, and from Mrs. Vincent Shaudys, state director of the flower mission department.

It was voted to collect used greeting cards to send to Auckland, New Zealand, for work with shut-ins; and a Union Signal subscription will be sent in for the use of officers. Miss Page and Mrs. Russell gave readings, showing the need of legislation to restrict the sale of alcohol; members were urged to write Rep. Leon H. Gavin, House Office Building, Washington, D. C., to ask his cooperation in passing HR 1227.

Attention was called to the fact that the local treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Sears, has been listed as a "Master Builder" in the State Bulletin for her work in obtaining 15 new members since September 1st.

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT

Mrs. George Walker, chairman of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club, takes pride in announcing that Mrs. A. C. Flick, Jr., will have the program for Monday afternoon, the last meeting of the current year.

Mrs. Flick is well known for her literary abilities, and has written short stories, poetry and plays. Her style is entertaining and soul-satisfying and members are looking forward to hearing her "Poetry Scrap Book."

Club members are again reminded the meeting will begin at two o'clock.

Entertainment of Varied Nature Is Promised by Band

Committees are being lined up, details are being worked out and Dragon Band members are busy with the tasks of rehearsing their program and selling tickets for the annual mid-winter concert to be presented to the public at 8:00 p. m. Monday, March 16, in Beaty Junior High School gym.

Bonnie Bartsch is heading the ticket committee; Patty Ronan, program committee; Sylvia Smith and Dave Mason are planning decorations, and Warner Ahlgren is setting up the publicity.

In addition to its groups of concert and modern selections, the band will vary the entertainment with several novelty pieces, among which will be "Ham Boogie" and "The Little Red Caboose."

Featured numbers will also include Stephen Foster's "My Old Kentucky Home," played by a saxophone quartet composed of Mary Bauer, Jane McDonald, Sally Saunders and Beatrice Venman; "Triad," played as a trumpet trio by Dick Crane, Lewis Garber and Bob Koebley.

A bit on the different side will be a woodwind quintet composed of Peggy Eaton, flute; JoAnne Richards, oboe; Warner Ahlgren, clarinet; Bill Carlson, bassoon; and Jack Timm, French horn.

Another group working out a specialty number is the majorettes corps, Bonnie Bartsch, Marilyn Bimber, Kay Evan, Marjorie Nicholson, Carol Powley and Karen Stohl. Their twirling exhibition will be done to the strains of "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Choir Concert At St. Paul's Sunday

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran church, members of the choir will present a special Lenten sacred concert and extend a cordial invitation to all members and friends of the parish.

Harvey Horn is director of the group, with Mrs. Emil Jacobson and Mrs. Russell Thein playing Handel's "Largo" as an organ and piano prelude opening the program. Following devotions by Pastor Nore G. Gustafson, these program numbers will be given:

Praise the Lord, Wennerberg; Cherubim Song, Bortniansky; And the Glory of the Lord, Handel; Still With Thee, Speaks, with Mrs. Martha Andersen as soloist; O Morn of Beauty, Sibelius.

Offertory—Meditation de Thais, Massenet—Organ and piano.

Annual 4-H Club Fun Night at YMCA Saturday

All roads in Warren county will lead to the Warren YMCA Saturday evening, when the annual 4-H Club Fun Night is staged by O. C. Triff, county farm agent, with extension directors, Jerry Johnston and Paul Hoke.
The party will get under way at eight o'clock and will include a swim in the "Y" pool, games, movies and other entertainment.
All 4-H members and their leaders in the county have been invited to share in the Fun Night and a large turnout is anticipated.

HERE'S a tip on traveling, girls, that comes straight out of a letter written long ago by the late Edna St. Vincent Millay to her family. After commenting on an interesting conversation she had with a stranger she deliberately sat down beside on a train, she explained: "I have told you I always pick a man under those circumstances, because if they talk to you it is either interesting and you are glad they did, or ride, and you can shut them up—but women always talk and you can't do a thing about it."
You may not find that tip in any etiquette book—but think it over and you'll realize that all the answers aren't in books of etiquette.

First Statement To Employees Issued By New Theatre Owner

Simon H. Fabian, president of the Stanley-Warner Corp. which, as of midnight February 28, became the new operating company for the Library and Columbia theatres here, has issued his first statement to all employees expressing his confidence in the future of the motion picture business and his optimistic outlook for increased public interest and patronage.
Mr. Fabian and his partner, Samuel H. Rosen, vice-president of the new Corporation, recently purchased the stock interest of the Warner's interests was necessary by a Federal court ruling that a single management could not operate both the Warner Brothers Theatres and the Warner Brothers Picture and distribution organization.

In his initial statement, Mr. Fabian stated, "Mr. Rosen and myself firmly believe that the revolutionary developments in the motion picture industry, such as the new three dimension processes, new projection processes, as well as Theatre television, hold the promise of greater rewards than those our industry has ever received. Today, more than ever, there has been a re-awakening of interest among the public in the motion picture and the motion picture theatre. We feel encouraged at assuming the responsibilities of this new company at a time when the recent developments in our industry will, more than ever, make the motion picture theatres the real entertainment centers of this nation."

Mr. Fabian also paid tribute to the personnel of the old circuit whose "energy, drive and experience was responsible for the enviable position held by the Warner Theatres among the nation's exhibitors."
"We have always, in the past, conducted the Fabian Theatres in the finest traditions of show business and in service to our various communities. We will continue those practices with the Stanley-Warner Theatres and the new Company."

Epidemic of Colds Interferes With Soliciting Funds

make the pledge when the volunteer calls. Several workers have been asked to come back, and have made two or three calls before getting a contribution and there have even been a few rude turn-downs.

As of nine o'clock Thursday evening the reports received from the Borough solicitation, all nine wards, is as follows:—
Ward 1$300
Ward 2174
Ward 3200
Ward 4100
Ward 5250
Ward 6210
Ward 7364
Ward 8350
Ward 9302

The seventh and ninth wards appear to be setting the pace for the other wards on the basis of these incomplete returns though all wards are well behind their hoped-for quotas.

There were no reports in this morning from the county districts and Chairman Donald E. Schuler said he expected to have his first county returns in Monday.

The Industrial Division has received over $900 so far and these returns are likewise incomplete. Reports so far from this division indicate that gifts and pledges are running somewhat ahead of a year ago; though not by the necessary 10%. The Special Gifts, Commercial and Clubs and Organizational groups had no reports worthy of mention though the leaders of these divisions have had spot checks with their workers and feel that by the middle of next week they will have fairly respectable totals to report.

General Chairman, A. M. Gibson, was contacting all division leaders and team workers today urging that the tempo of the drive be stepped up and at the same time asking that all calls be made by Wednesday, March 11 with her final reports to be turned in at Red Cross Headquarters by Thursday of next week.

It is hoped that Warren people will not remain indifferent to this annual appeal of their Red Cross and that, over the weekend, a larger number of Red Cross stickers will appear in the windows of many more homes in the borough and throughout the county.

Potentate Speaker At Shrine Oyster Supper

When word of an oyster party gets around, the results may be tabulated well in advance and it was no surprise to the committees that 110 members of Warren County Shrine Club turned out for the annual supper held Wednesday night at the Marconi Outing Club.

The group was addressed by Potentate Harry Mueller of Erie and by Dan Castle, oriental guide of Isabella Temple in Buffalo, N. Y., and there were visiting nobles from Bradford, Erie, Ridgway, North East, and Jamestown.

Following the serving of oysters prepared in every conceivable fashion, special entertainment was provided by Orrie Beebe, Warren, and "Red" Campbell, North East.

Creed Erickson and Ken Graham, co-chairmen for the affair, had as their very able committee a group of about 20 club members.

Next big social event on the schedule is the annual Ladies' Night, to be held April 22 under the chairmanship of Fred Printz.

Top Soviet Leaders Named As Committee to Arrange Rites for "Man of Steel"

said one Muscovite chaffeur of his tears, "he was a real person."
All over Moscow, black-bordered red flags snapped in the cold wind that whipped the snow-blanketed city. Thousands of yards of black crepe were being hung on buildings and homes.
The House of Unions—where the hier of virtually every dead Soviet leader has been placed to be viewed by the people—was made ready to receive Stalin's body. A huge portrait of the dead leader hung above the main doors.
The last months had been a period of intense activity for the Soviet chief. He wrote his latest work "Economic Problems of Socialism in the USSR," a 25,000-word partial blueprint for Russia's economic future, and took a leading role in last fall's big Soviet Communist party congress.

Last Nov. 7 he spent long hours reviewing the huge parade marking the anniversary of the 1917 revolution that brought the Communists to power in Russia. He made several public appearances at the Bolshoi Theatre and recently received Argentine and Indian ambassadors to Moscow.

Despite widespread foreign speculation in recent years about his health, Stalin in his recent appearances had impressed all who saw him as being hale and vigorous for a man of his years.

SOLDIER WANTED FOR MURDER RECAPTURED

Ft. Dix, N. J. (AP)—Pvt. Edgar Owens, charged with murdering his lieutenant while on maneuvers, was recaptured early today, two hours after he escaped from a "secured ward" at the post hospital here.

Owens, 21, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a mental patient before entering the Army, was picked up by two guards just a few hundred feet from the hospital. He surrendered meekly.

The soldier is charged with murder in the shooting of 2nd Lt. Richard M. Davenport, 22, of a New London, Conn., during a practice maneuver on Feb. 11 in which live ammunition was used.

THREE ARE KILLED IN WEST VIRGINIA BLAST

Fairview, W. Va. (AP)—An explosion in a recently drilled shaft of a new mine killed three men today.
L. Clyde Riley, welfare fund administrator of United Mine Workers District 31, said the blast was believed to have been caused by a spark which ignited gas in the shaft.
The men were repairing a water line about 50 feet below the surface in the 600-foot shaft, only recently sunk.

CLAIMS OF HEROISM

A resident of Youngville turned up at the Corry hospital today and is said to have demanded "the full works" in treatment for fractured ribs and chest injuries while rescuing a person from a burning building near Youngville, Thursday night. A call to Police Chief J. E. Chappel of Youngville, elicited the information that there was no fire in that area during the night.

Driving Habits Of Truckers Is Planned

Harrisburg, (P) — Trucking companies will get quicker reports on the driving habits of their drivers under a plan worked out here.

The system was drawn at a conference of safety experts from trucking companies in 10 eastern and mid-western states.

Under the plan highway safety patrols will send reports of good or poor driving to the trucking association in the driver's home state. The association would then forward the report to the trucking company.

O. D. Shipley, safety director of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, said safety patrols are now operating in about 12 eastern states.

The patrols, he said, are operated by trucking companies or trucking associations at an annual cost of about $12,000 a year. Shipley said about half the cars are manned by persons who devote all time to patrol work.

Other cars, he explained, are operated by the owners or safety officers of trucking companies on a part-time basis.

In Pennsylvania, Shipley said, some 130 patrols are constantly patrolling the highways. "It's awfully hard today to find a truck violation on the Pennsylvania Turnpike," he explained.

Safety experts attended the conference from these states:

Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia and Illinois.

Will Repair Lander
Community House

Lander—Official board members of the Methodist church, meeting at the parsonage, heard a variety of reports and considered repairs to the community building and the remodeling of the church auditorium.

Rev. Gustav Erickson, pastor, conducted devotions and was in charge of the meeting. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Elmer G. Swanson, and the treasurer, Mrs. Paul Rowland.

The pastor announced that on Thursday evening of Holy week, April 2, Rev. Wayne Furman, district superintendent, will come from Jamestown to speak and conduct the Holy Communion service. Following will be the fourth quarterly conference of the parish, to which the entire congregation is invited.

It was decided the trustees should get insurance on the new organ and secure compensation insurance on the janitor and workers at the church; also to have a new roof put on the community house as soon as possible. Plans were outlined and discussed for the auditorium remodeling project.

A vote of thanks was given Mitchell Mahan, Raymond Mahan and Henry Preston and all were reflected as ushers, with Richard Venzel added to the group.

It was announced a special offering will be taken Easter morning, when the pastor delivers his Easter message; also that the choir will give a cantata the same evening.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Erickson, assisted by Mrs. George Mahan.

FIGHTING MOOD—Reed Harris, above, acting chief of the Voice of America, in testimony before the Senate investigating subcommittee accused committee chairman Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R-Wis.), of making an "absolutely false" statement, and of trying to "bring my public neck." Harris referred to McCarthy's statement that the Voice chief had "reluctantly" offered to give the subcommittee his security files, and also protested the subcommittee's procedure.

Warren High Senior
At Career Meeting
In Washington, Pa.

Washington, Pa. — Washington and Jefferson College held its second College Career Conference here Saturday, February 28, with a large number of tri-state district high school seniors participating in the program.

The students, following registration and a tour of the 178-year-old school's campus, were guests of the 10 national fraternities at luncheon and later discussed their career plans with a dozen W. & J. faculty members. They also heard talks on the R.O.T.C. program and the college's athletic program.

From Warren was Tom K. Larson, Jr., of 4 Hertz street, a senior at Warren High School, who is interested in medicine.

Purposes of the conference were three-fold: to give interested students the opportunity to hear well-informed men discuss vocations requiring a college degree; to provide students with information which will enable them to make a wise choice of their life's work; and to present the opportunity for students to observe a typical small liberal arts college.

A motor trip from Algiers to Capetown, Africa, would cover 9000 miles.

Demographers Are Having Troubles Predicting Trends

Washington — Know what a demographer is? That's the fellow who specializes in predicting population trends. He sits back with his pencil and slide rule and tries to figure out how many people will be in a given place at a certain year.

During the past few years, demographers have been having their troubles. Seems that back in the thirties their slide rules got stuck. They were figuring that the United States would achieve its full population growth by 1960—a peak of about 157 million—and then our population would level off and remain pretty much the same for years and years.

Now we're just finding out how wrong the demographers were. Our population figure passed the 157-million estimate last July, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and there seems to be no limit to how big we can grow.

Even the most conservative experts say that by the year 2000 there will be 200 million people in this country. Others place the figure as high as 300 million.

As our population expands it will be up to business in this country to provide more and more products and more and more jobs.

By 1957, for example, the Department of Agriculture says we'll need 20 per cent more of everything. We'll have to produce five and a half billion pounds more meat than we now produce. We'll need 30 billion pounds more milk, and 15 billion extra eggs.

No one can say how many millions more of baby carriages, cribs and nursing bottles our American mothers will need. Nor how many new houses and automobiles and radios and television sets and air conditioning systems, trams, airplanes, trucks, household appliances and the millions of other commodities which keep us all in meat and drink.

That is why the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is preparing to launch a broad new program which will reach out into the communities to mobilize and stimulate the productive energies of the nation.

New horizons beckon. Not only will private initiative be encouraged; it will promise greater rewards because our expanding population has an insatiable appetite for the products of our farms and fields, our mines, timberlands and factories. The wants of tomorrow cannot be measured by the demands of today.

THE VOICE OF LOVE

William Neubauer

Chapter Two

RUTH crossed Main Street, took the gate into Pepper-Tree Lane, and thumped mightily on the door of Doctor's cottage. "Anyone home? And who's been clipping the wisteria?"

Big Sam chuckled as he opened the door. "Shucks, Ruth, it was getting so's you couldn't see the house."

An immense man with a chocolate-brown face and grizzled hair, he seemed perfectly content to stand there with her all afternoon, just talking. But a shout came from the house, the shout of an impatient man who'd been kept waiting quite long enough. She stepped quickly into the broad, cool hall and went into the living-room. "Sorry to be late, Doctor."

Dr. Ambrose Fell smiled warmly. He waved her to a chair. "We're having coffee and cake. Big Sam says we don't entertain enough, so we're entertaining."

"Oh?" She eyed him, all suspicion. He entertained only when he wanted something.

She chuckled. "Why waste time? Ask for what you want and be done with it. I'll say no, and then we'll discuss the question of your vacation."

He sat down. At seventy-two he was still a bull of a man, broad-shouldered, thick-chested, with keen blue eyes and a vigorous crop of white hair.

"Vacations aren't fun," he said. "You fight mosquitoes and crowds and endure all sorts of discomforts."

"You don't have to travel, you know. You could stay at the hotel. Dad would be glad to put you up free of charge. There."

The keen eyes twinkled. "Which," he said lightly, "reminds me of a favor I want to ask. Mr. Gomez needs a job and with the tourist season coming on."

"No you don't! We're hired him four times and each time he disappointed us. And Nancy's scared to be around him and—"

"Oh, he doesn't drink any more. He really does a perfect job."

"All right," she said weakly, feeling trapped. "Why doesn't Mr. Gomez drink?"

"His artificial leg doesn't pain him any more."

"Oh?"

She stared at her reflection in the mirror.

"His wasn't well fitted. And he thought, the idiot, that pain went with wearing an artificial leg. When the pain was too intense, he drank. Gomez is different now, period."

"The poor guy!"

"You'll talk to your folks?"

She nodded, swallowing a lump in her throat.

Dr. Fell got up vigorously from his chair. "Fine. Sorry you have to leave. You know your way out?"

"Dr. Ambrose J. Fell?"

He halted at the door, struck by another thought. "And who'd take over while I was vacationing? And who'd work out the details for the community hospital?"

"You could hire a young doctor. And how do you know there'll be a community hospital?"

"There has to be."

"But the money!"

"I'm not concerned with money! I'm concerned with human health, with human needs!"

"If Dad backed such a proposal he wouldn't be elected. Do you know that?"

He met her eyes. "He'll have to declare. Ruth."

"And if he declares against?"

He smiled faintly. "You almost died at birth, you know. And why? Because we couldn't afford hospital—or so people thought. You just tell your father that."

AN hour later she was sitting on the veranda of her father's white-frame hotel. She stirred at the big door opened behind her. Meeting a pair of big eyes, she smiled mechanically. "You must be Mr. Daniel Curtis. I'm Ruth Carlisle. My mother told me you and your uncle have come for the summer."

He took her hand, shook it briefly and sat down in a wicker rocker beside her. "You wouldn't like a game of croquet, would you? I noticed that your sister and Mr. Hufford need partners."

"We'll get licked, Mr. Curtis. They beat your brains out, as my students say."

"Oh, we'd let them win, of course. That fellow Hufford needs a moral builder."

She nodded. She began to like this tall, rather thin man who could go to the trouble of deliberately losing a game just to give someone a badly needed lift.

"I'll join you in five minutes," "Sucker!" chuckled Mr. C. C. Lahan in the wide, long hall.

Ruth halted. "Are you feeling all right, Maggy?"

"I'm feeling honored, if that's what you mean. Awe overpowered Maggy's features. 'Don't you know' who his uncle is? Honey, he's a dyed-in-the-wool celebrity! He's that philosopher who used to talk over the radio!"

Ruth ransacked her memory, but found nothing, perhaps because of that ringing in her ears. "Maggy, is something boiling in the kettle? Is something whistling—or ringing?"

"I know you should've worn a hat! That hot sun has scrambled your brains!"

"I hate hats!" Ruth went out the back way to the cottage. She took denim trousers and a blouse from the bureau drawer and put them on. She stared at her reflection in the mirror. Beautiful! She wished Bob would grow up. When she fell in love she'd know. There'd be a voice to tell her, a bell-like voice that would ring for happiness. Until then...

"A deal."

Father and daughter solemnly shook hands; then Ephraim Carlisle started the car again and finished the long drive to Union County Elementary School. Grace Taylor, grinning, dropped a little curtsy. "Welcome to the jute mill, Miss Carlisle. Aren't you just thrilled to be back?"

THE two teachers fell into stride and walked slowly up the path under the pepper-trees toward the big redwood buildings.

Grace chuckled as they went down the hall of the main building to the faculty room. "Nice weekend? Mine was a pip. Drove to San Francisco and spent it with my aunt. We sailed on San Francisco Bay. We had Saturday dinner in Chinatown. Sunday dinner on Fishermen's Wharf. That was a traitorous thing to do, but we did it, and I'm glad!"

They found the faculty room empty. There were several notices on the bulletin board, but nothing of major importance. Mr. Quince would appreciate the views of his staff on the subject of progressive education. He would appreciate any information regarding the breakage of several of the windows of his office window. Lastly, he would appreciate it if the staff would forbear smoking while on the school grounds.

Grace sighed. "He never relaxes, does he?"

"It's an important job. Of course, if you were to marry him—"

"Heaven forbid!"

But Grace was blushing. Her purple eyes went everywhere but to Ruth's face.

Ruth envied her. At least, she thought, Grace knew. In the mind of Grace there was no doubt. And wasn't that half the battle, just to know?

SCHOOL NEWS!

By Warren High News Writing Class

Miss Esther Westendorf, a representative of the D. C. Heath Publishing Co. and consultant for elementary education, demonstrated several modern teaching procedures at South Street School yesterday. Her work in the classrooms is part of a program laid out by Gerald M. Newton, director of instruction and curriculum, to help teachers of Warren keep in touch with the modern educational ideas and tools being used today.

Showing how paragraph writing may be related to many other courses, Miss Westendorf first used it in a penmanship lesson. Then she demonstrated how social study information may be employed in making paragraph summaries for an English lesson. She continued to explain and showing how arithmetic may function in a social studies' lesson.

After school yesterday afternoon the teachers of South Street met with Miss Westendorf at the home of Mr. Newton for an informal discussion.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank my many friends who called and especially those who came and prayed with me, also for the many cards, flowers, plants, gifts, etc., during my convalescence from a most unfortunate fall and injuries.

Mrs. Kate Brandt 3-6-11.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

GOOD BID BRINGS DESIRED RESULTS

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was dealt in the recent World Championship Match in New York, the American team bid the North-South cards with great simplicity and accuracy. North's double raise showed happ North felt that the double raise best expressed the nature of his hand in spite of the fact that he was 1 point short of the "correct" total.

South was equally direct in his next bid. He had a count of 20 points in high cards, 2 points for the two doubletons and one point extra for the fifth card in spades.

With a total of 23 points in his own hand and the assurance of 13 to 16 points in his partner's hand, South's only question was whether to bid a small or a grand slam.

Since the American team avoids bidding grand slams except when badly in need of points, South went right to the small slam without bothering to explore the possibilities of a grand slam.

The contract was of course, easily fulfilled. Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, drew trumps, and eventually ruffed his fourth diamond in dummy. One heart trick was given up to the enemy.

In the other room, the Swedish team made complicated bids that seemed to have no clear meaning. As a result, they missed the lay-down slam.

South opened with one spade, as in the first room, but North's response was two clubs. The Swedish South bid three diamonds, and his partner jumped to four spades. This may have sounded very scientific, but it was far from clear. South passed, and thus missed the slam.

The American game of checkers is known as "draughts" by the British.

Millions
will not have
Acid Indigestion
Today

Why? Because they always keep Tums handy—the record-fast relief of gas, heartburn, sour stomach. Almost instantly, Tums neutralize excess acid. Yet contain no soda to over-alkalize or cause acid rebound. One or two Tums, eaten like candy, stops stomach distress almost before it starts. Do as millions do—carry Tums always. Remember to get a handy roll today.

Wills and Business School Are Tied for Lead in City League

Cleaners and Rockets Take Thurs. Games

The YMCA-City basketball loop was thrown back into a two-way deadlock for first place last night, when Wills Cleaners romped over Certified Electric, 73-38, to match Warren Business School's 6-0 record for the second half. In the opener the Rockets piled up a 56-33 score over Certified Electric for their fifth win in seven starts this half.

Bob Reese hit the bucket with 10 fielders to win the individual scoring honors and lead Wills victory with 20 points. The victors led, 11-4, after a low scoring first stanza and then piled it on to take a 35-16 half time advantage. In the third canto the league leaders outpointed their opponents, 21-4 and settled for one more point in the last quarter.

Other top scorers for Wills who hit the double figures were: Bob Simpson, for 16 markers, and Bill Massa and Tom Juniano, with 13 and 11 respectively. Chuck Irvin was high man for Certified with 10 points.

Playing consistent ball, the Rockets out-astounded the opposing Style Shop in every chapter, holding a 10-point advantage by the end of the first half.

Roger Hancock had a hot night for the Rockets, popping 18 points.

THREE STRAIGHT DRAWS
Doug Frey, Penn State 157-pounder has had to settle for draw decisions in his last three wrestling appearances.

PHONE COACHING—Basketball coach George (Dutch) Hoy, communicates with his Phoenix, Ariz., College players on the bench by means of a closed circuit telephone system. Each player has an earphone headset. Hoy gives instructions via the mouthpiece.

Local Friends, Fans Root For Cummings to Win on Saturday

Lou Cummings, Warren High's 95-pound District 10 wrestling champion will carry the "best wishes" of the community with him tomorrow when he enters PIAA Regional competition in Clearfield.

A regional crown for Lou, one of 14 children in Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cummings' family of 117 Ludlow street, would be the first ever achieved by a local grappler in the high school's five-years of wrestling.

Carl Nelson represented Warren at the regionals in the 165-pound class in 1952.

Lou will be accompanied on the trip by his coach, Homer Barr, a former state schoolboy champ from Clearfield and intercollegiate heavyweight titlholder.

The opening match tomorrow will pit Cummings against James Calhoun of Everett, the District V champ at 2 o'clock. Then the winner of this bout will face the District 6-9 titlist Phil Bock of Philipsburg, at 7:30.

Harrisburg (P) — Regional wrestling eliminations start today for the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Championships.

Winners of the week-end eliminations will meet at State College Saturday, March 14, for the state title.

The first regional tournament got underway today at the Cheltenham Township High School, Montgomery County. Others will be held tomorrow at Wilkes-Barre, Clearfield and Washington, Pa.

Marienville Faces Post Season Games During Next Week

Although their regular cage season is out of the way, East Forest High still has a busy schedule ahead before putting the uniforms in mothballs.

Next Tuesday night Coach Dick Finley's passers will participate in the Emblenton Invitational tournament at Emblenton, will have four players represented in the UAWL All-Star game in Warren on Wednesday night, and then enter tournament play again on Friday if they win their Tuesday tilt.

East Forest's opponent on Tuesday will be Harrisville.

Pick Guy Fielder As Rookie Crown Winner

Guy Fielder of St. Louis appears a good bet to cop the rookie award in the American Hockey League this season.

The 22-year-old center sparked the Flyers to a 5-3 victory over the Hershey Bears last night in the loop's only tilt.

With the score deadlocked, 3-3, after two periods, Fielder stole the puck from the Bears and passed it to Mott McLean who drove home the clinching tally. Then with only 10 seconds left, Fielder took a pass from Jake Forbes and slid the rubber into an empty cage.

The two points enabled Fielder to tie Eddie Olson of the Cleveland Barons for the league's individual scoring lead.

67 STRAIGHT WINS
Penn State's Gerry Maurey, who'll be seeking his first intercollegiate title in the Eastern wrestling championships at Princeton March 13-14, was unbeaten in 67 bouts as a schoolboy. The Clearfield youth won four titles in four different weights.

STILL UNBEATEN
A win over Army Saturday will give Penn State gymnasts their first perfect season and their first Eastern team title since 1948.

15 AND 8 LOG
Penn State will carry a 15-and-8 log into its final basketball game against Temple at Philadelphia Saturday. The Lions, triumphant in six of their last seven games, defeated Syracuse, West Virginia and Pitt in their last three outings.

SCORING-BEST TEAM
Nine of Penn State's ten entries scored points in the 1953, indoor IC-4A track and field championships.

Tom Slater 120-Pound Winner in West Virginia Tournament

A former member of the Warren High wrestling squad, Tommy Slater, who now attends Woodrow Wilson High school in Beckley, W. Va., has just been crowned West Virginia state champion in the 120-pound class.

"A lot of credit for Tom's win is due to the primary and fundamental training he received while at Warren High school under the able training of Coach Homer Barr," said the boy's father, Paul W. Slater, in a letter to the Times-Mirror.

Young Slater, who moved to West Virginia since he wrestled on the Warren squad a year ago, went through the district elimination and then became state champion in his class after winning in the state eliminations at Parkersburg. The Slater family formerly lived at 5 Bauer street in Warren.

Mr. Slater also writes that the family is much interested in the progress of Lou Cummings, and expresses a hope that he will win at Clearfield tomorrow.

Sauer May Ease His Home Run Drives To Improve Hitting

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hammerin' Hank Sauer, who nailed down the National League's Most Valuable Player Award in 1952, may not do as much fencibusting this season. He just wants to "get wood on every pitch."

The husky Chicago outfielder, tied with Ralph Kiner for home run honors with 37 last year, concedes his race with Kiner caused a decline in his hitting. Actually, he slumped from a .350 mid-June batting average to a final figure of .270.

Meanwhile, Wally Westlake, another veteran outfielder, had other ideas.

Westlake, on the comeback trail with the Cleveland Indians after a poor year, is aiming for the fences on the advice of Manager Al Lopez and getting results. He hit several over the left field fence at Tucson, Ariz., yesterday.

Elsewhere, Mickey Mantle, who turned 21 last Oct. 20, has come of age in more than one way. The fleet-footed center fielder will bat in the cleanup spot for the World Champion New York Yankees in the early exhibition games and may start the season in that position if he comes through.

Also at St. Petersburg, Fla., St. Louis Browns owner Bill Veeck said it looked like his club will stay in St. Louis. He said he did not discuss the rumored Milwaukee switch in his recent talks with William Harridge, president of the American League.

Two more players signed their 1953 contracts yesterday. Outfielder Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia A's came to terms for an estimated $22,000 and first baseman Eddie Waitkus of the Philadelphia Phillies agreed to a reported $20,000 pact.

Other news: Catcher Joe Rossi smashed a 400-foot homer in Pittsburgh's intra-squad game . . . Manager Rogers Hornsby nominat Eddie Erault and Bud Podbielniak to divide the mound chores in Cincinnati's first exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox tomorrow . . . Gus Niarhos, who made only six hits all last season, lashed out three singles as the Red Sox veterans routed the Rockies . . . Rookie catcher Charley Thompson had two stitches taken over his right ear after being hit with a bat during a Brooklyn Dodger batting drill.

Graham Is Favored To Beat Giardello In Tonight's Fight

New York. (P)—Welterweight contender Billy Graham is a 2 to 1 favorite to beat middleweight Joey Giardello at Madison Square Garden tonight and the veteran New Yorker vows "there will be no doubt about it."

"This time it'll be so far in front there won't be any room for argument," said Graham, loser of two split decisions to the 22-year old Philadelphia.

"I'll win it big," said Giardello. "He'll have nothing to cry about this time."

The three officials who will work the fight certainly hope they're right. It's going to be a tough assignment. Both boxers are counter-punchers who prefer to have their opponents do the leading. And their fighting styles always are difficult to evaluate.

The 31-year old Graham has figured in eight split decisions here and lost six of them, including the two with Giardello on Aug. 4 and Dec. 19. Five of the last seven main events in the Garden and the last four in a row have been decided by split victories.

"Hooktown was named after Francis Hook, who came from New Hampshire about 1836 and settled in what is now called Hooktown," writes James Spies of 126 Frank street, and becomes the winner of two theatre tickets for the Library, his letter having been delivered in person and thereby winning by the length of a postage stamp. Other explanatory letters had practically the same answer: settled by the Hooks. None of the several Hook families listed in the 'phone book resides in that section at the present time.

"Having a grand vacation and feeling better every day," writes F. E. Kieshauser from Daytona Beach, Fla. "You would enjoy eating at this place. Very good food." His message is written on a post card portraying "Rell's Restaurant" at Daytona Beach, and about which we had heard from Leroy Schneck.

Ray Brown of the Brown and Dickerson barber shop near Times Square, points with pride to a new barber pole recently erected over the stairway leading to the tonsorial parlor. He says that although there has been a barber shop in that same location for 50 years, this is the first time a barber pole has been displayed. "It looks good enough to eat!" was the favorable comment of a wee girl being dragged along by a tired mother laden with groceries.

A rather pitiful sight, that stag line at Oakview Wednesday night. Bro't to mind a hit song from "South Pacific."

Parents of most of the Warren county lads who left in the most recent draft contingent have come to the conclusion that their sons are poor letter-writers. A few telephone calls, fewer letters.

Ronnie Black of Oil City, well known to many young folk in Warren and president of the district Episcopalian youth group, has been named honorary captain of the Oilers' 1953 basketball team.

Indications are that the aggressive young Mr. Cummings will have not only his faithful and sometimes vociferous dad to cheer him on in the wrestling tournament at Clearfield, but a number of other local fans as well. The best wishes of the town go with him and may he continue to come out on top.

At the officials' dinner Wednesday night we heard considerable comment pro and con about washing wrestling toga. "Wash 'em and you lose" is supposed to be a superstition with the grapplers.

A certain vacant residence near the business section is being looked upon with favor as a clubhouse for a local organization. More later.

We've been asked whatever became of Ken Arnold, the 6'9" youngster from Maryland who was in town last fall. Ken is working in West Virginia for General Outdoor Advertising. Their need for ladders has diminished since his arrival there.

Buz Crocker's basketball workouts two nights a week do not seem to be affecting him to any great extent; he's still well nourished. Jim Sigworth, Starbuck's only player in the league, appears to have put on a few pounds during the season. He must have found good use for that stocking cap during the recent cold spell.

Buchanan street winter scene one day this week: Jack Hickey supervising a walk cleaning job being well done by his two youngsters. Dexterity with a shovel like a chip off the old block.

"Hail to Pitt" is now the theme among the nurses at State, with the U. of Pittsburgh Glee Club to sing there soon. That'll be one night when the local lads might as well drive right on by. Except for the red-haired charmer from Clark street, of course!

FACE MERCER MONDAY NITE IN TITLE TILT

Four-hundred tickets for the Youngsville-Mercer Class B play-off game slated for Monday night were put on sale in Youngsville yesterday morning at the high school office, Barton's Super Service Station and the Jones Pharmacy. The ducats are priced at 75 cents for both students and adults.

Monday night's championship contest will be played on the Lincoln Junior High gym in Oil City, with the tip-off time set at 8 o'clock.

Although they lost the Upper Allegheny Valley League crown Coach Frank Kamus' Eagles were the top "B" team in the league and therefore enter into the District 10 playoffs with the Mercer Venango County champs.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF WARREN

Back in 1946, Henry Kaiser and Joe Frazer decided to go into the automobile business, and it was our pleasure to have been appointed their dealer . . . to serve the people of Warren and Warren county, Pennsylvania in the presentation of the newcomer to the automobile field.

Thanks to you good people we have continued to grow. We have always tried to be fair and honest with you in all of our dealings. Our shop is staffed with capable, experienced, factory-trained mechanics. Our equipment is modern. We believe our parts stock is one of the largest in Warren.

Sometimes a dealer becomes overstocked with used cars, due to the public's unforeseen demand for new cars. When such a situation occurs, he usually takes them to a Wholesale Used Car Auction.

We do not believe in this. We would rather let the people of Warren profit by buying these cars at wholesale prices, for then they become our customers.

We Have Decided to Hold an "Old Fashioned Sale"

Beginning at 10:00 A. M. Saturday, all of our cars will be priced at these unbelievably low prices.

Your present car may be more than enough for your down payment . . . or a small deposit will hold the car of your choice. We have over 50 cars in stock.

I personally, invite you to come out and inspect these automobiles.

Cordially yours,

John O. Hanna

Wildlife Food and Cover Development Extensive Program

On lands administered by the Game Commission the wildlife food and cover development program is a year around activity. Few persons realize the extent of this project through which desirable environment for wild creatures is created. Here are a few facts concerning it.

During the past several months, much of the time of the Commission's food and cover crews has been devoted to improving woodland and field borders through the removal of overshadowing tree growth. Cuttings made there not only encourage additional reproduction and sprout growth, but the shrubs and vines released increase in size and produce much larger crops of fruits, berries and nuts, so important to wildlife.

Completed plans show this winter activity will soon be replaced by a spring planting program. Through it several hundred thousand evergreens—Scotch pine, red pine, white pine, and Norway spruce—will be planted on steep slopes to produce cover for wildlife and at the same time reduce soil erosion and help maintain adequate moisture in the ground.

This spring, many shrubs and vines will be grouped along the edges of gullies and in odd corners to develop plantings that will produce food for wildlife. These include multiflora rose, gray dogwood, bayberry, silky dogwood, tatarian honeysuckle, fox grape, and bittersweet. Over one million of these food producers are planted annually on state owned and leased lands.

Wildlife foods from these native trees, shrubs and vines must be supplemented by rotation plantings of corn, small grains, clovers and grasses. The locations and types of food strips planted are determined by the soil and types of game present in each area. In the larger wooded holdings, small grains, followed by seedings of succulent clover, prove the preferred foods.

In late February and March, food and cover crews will seed clovers and clover mixtures on areas planted to fall grains last year. When the weather breaks in the spring, crews will move farming equipment into managed areas and prepare the soil for oats and other grains.

Plans for each year's activities give full consideration to wildlife's current needs and farmers' right to crop protection, so far as that can be provided.

James Buchanan was the only U. S. President who never married.

NEA's All-America Basketball Team Proves Speed Must Go With Height

Dukes, Gola, Knostman Convert Cinder Training to Court Fame

By MURRAY OLDERMAN and JOHN McCALLUM
NEA Staff Correspondents

New York—(NEA)—If basketball is to be characterized as a game of goons, it's time that the term be qualified. Size alone hasn't taken over Dr. Naismith's sport.

The contemporary goons gallop, and for verification we go no further than the 1953 NEA Service All-America basketball team, compiled from reports by outstanding basketball writers around the nation and assembled by NEA's own sports experts.

Speed and marksmanship team up with height to make this the strongest nominee of the post-war era.

Here's how it reads: Dick Knostman, 6-8, Kansas State, and Bob Houbregs, 6-7, Washington, forwards; Walter Dukes, 6-11 Seton Hall, center; Tom Gola, 6-6, LaSalle, and Johnny O'Brien, 5-9, Seattle, guards.

This quintet averages 6-5½ and would go higher if a runt like O'Brien hadn't squeezed into the act. Ironically, the little man is probably the slowest runner of the five on a straightaway. Dukes, Gola and Knostman all have track backgrounds, the first two swift quarter-milers, the K-Stater a fine hurdler.

Normally, all but Gola are pivots, and Tom takes a turn in the key, too, but their all-around ability would easily weld them into an effective unit.

Houbregs may be the finest hook shot in basketball. The Husky hits with remarkable accuracy from 30 feet and more, but he was also an outstanding playmaker and rebounder.

Knostman's forte is board play. Dick, who wears contact lenses, was a devastating shot in close, adept at flipping hooks or layups with either hand.

Dukes, of course, was the bulwark of Seton Hall's great team—the man who swept the boards, led the fast break and scored the points. He was the nation's most valuable.

Gola, the only non-senior on the first team, is rated the best all-around player in college ranks today. The LaSalle sophomore has no discernible weakness as a basketball player. He can hit from far out, he can drive and he has amazing reflexes for his size. It's Tom's job to handle the quick, small opposition.

O'Brien already has made his mark as the most prolific scorer of all time in major college basketball. With his repertoire of shots and court guile, he could adapt himself to any style of ball. Trying to boll the country's best down to five men meant shunting outstanding talent to the second team. Ernie Beck, the 6-4 Pennsylvania pivot, would make any team in the country with his magical hands. Giants Paul Pettit (6-8) of Louisiana State and Don Schlundt (6-10) of Indiana were the key men on two of the nation's finest teams.

Dick Ricketta of Duquesne was an underrated performer. Gene Schwinger of Rice was the best of a sub-par Southwestern Conference. Both had size (6-8) and mobility and led their teams in scoring.

Passed over but not unheard of was publicized Bevo Francis of Rio Grande College, whose scoring merited attention but whose ability against top-level competition was still a mystery.

Bevo wasn't the only cager with a scoring touch. The zoom in scoring percentages was another apparent trend this season. Where 10 years ago a man hitting 35 per cent of his shots was rated big league you had marksmen like Houbregs connecting on 60 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Corydon Planning Fire Department Benefits

Corydon—Plans are underway for two social events being sponsored for the benefit of the local fire department. The first will be a fish dinner, arranged by the auxiliary, on March 14; the second, a dance, in charge of the firemen, on March 20.

Local 4-H Club members, with their leader, Nelson Crooks, are expected to attend the annual 4-H "Fun Night" Saturday evening at the YMCA in Warren.

Quitting was the work taken up at the weekly meet of Foreign Missionary Society of the Nazarene church. Co-hostesses were Rev. Viola Doverspike and Mrs. B. M. Stoits. The group participated in serving a tureen dinner.

SLEDZIK ONLY SENIOR
Only senior on the Penn State basketball team which closes out the 1953 campaign against Temple at Philadelphia Saturday is the captain, Herm Sledzik, of Clune, Indiana County. Sledzik, who owns a three-year total of 687 points, posted his season high of 346 during the current campaign.

Rotate

To get the longest possible tread wear your tires should be rotated every 5000 miles. Choice of 3 methods

Inspect

The smallest cut may slice away half a tire's life. Occasionally a sharp object will cut a tire but these need not become serious if promptly removed.

Inflate

Under-inflation causes abnormal flexing and develops a high degree of internal heat. An over-inflated tire has a tendency to bounce or "chatter" and results in rapid wear.

2-Way Hydraulic Control with the MASSEY- HARRIS 2-Plow 22 and Depth-o-matic System

● Depth-o-matic 2-Way Hydraulic System gives you depth control of both mounted and pull-behind tools anywhere in your field. It's accurate, positive... completely safe. Depth-o-matic is but one of many better farming advantages you have with the 22. Others like 23.91 maximum drawbar horsepower; full-width operator platform; clear unobstructed vision; big 10-34 tires; the weight and power to handle both mounted and pull-behind tools mean the 22 does more work faster, easier, at less cost. And remember, the 22 is the lowest-priced tractor per drawbar horsepower in the 2-plow field.

METER COLLECTIONS

City police yesterday gathered in $424.39 in the regular weekly collection from parking meters.

IN HARRISBURG

Doctors T. K. Larson, James O'Connor, Raymond Lowe, William Cashman and John Urbaitis left yesterday for Harrisburg where they are attending a conference to-day of presidents and secretaries of the Pennsylvania Medical Association. They expect to return Saturday.

PENITENTIARY DUTY

Pvt. James Smith, of the local station of state police, left this morning for a week's guard duty at Western Penitentiary in Pittsburgh. Pfc. William Timmons, also of the Warren station, who has been at the penitentiary for the past week on similar duty, is expected home today.

MINOR ACCIDENT

A report was made yesterday to city police of a minor accident on South Irvine street which took place Tuesday when a car owned by Mrs. Herman Uhlig, of Warren, drifted away from its parking place and struck another car owned by Spencer W. Conklin, 8 S. Irvine street, which was parked in front of his home. According to the report, damage was estimated at about $25.

PROTECTIVE MEETING

The annual Forest Protective meeting of the Warren County Field and Stream Club will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Irvinedale school. The speaker will be W. H. Smith, former district forester of the Complanter area, now division chief of the Division of Protection, Department of Forests and Waters at Harrisburg.

UNDER OBSERVATION

Robert Resh, science and math teacher in Warren High School, was admitted yesterday afternoon to Warren General Hospital where he has been placed under observation. Mr. Resh was taken to the hospital when he complained of severe pains and was reported feeling good this morning. His classrooms have been taken over by Mrs. Meredith Coe, a substitute teacher.

PETITION FILED

District Attorney M. A. Kornreich, candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, yesterday filed his petitions with the county commissioners. It is expected that he will be unopposed for the nomination. He is the first official seeking county office to file. Commissioners said that very few petitions for municipalities outside of Warren borough have been filed so far, although many are being circulated. No Democratic petitions have been filed as yet.

At least 32 emperors and kings have been crowned in the city of Aachen, Germany, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

GOING OVER—Sgt. William J. Paris, who enlisted in the Marines February 21, 1951, is home on 21-day leave before reporting to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for overseas assignment. The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Paris, former Warrenites now in Santos, Brazil, S. A., Sgt. Paris has had his training at Parris Island and Camp Lejeune.

Soil Conservation Meeting Next Week At State College

Plans have just been announced for a comprehensive technical meeting at State College by the Soil Conservation Service March 10, 11, and 12. In announcing the plans, Ivan McKeever, State Conservationist for the Service, explained that the conference was being held to discuss technical subjects, dealing with the conservation of our renewable natural resources—the soil, the water, the forests, and the wild life. McKeever points out that the conference is being held for the benefit of work unit conservationists or technicians who work in the counties helping farmers make soil surveys, conservation farm plans, and assist farmers in the installation of the conservation practices. Others attending the meeting from the Service will include area conservationists and state office personnel.

Participating in the conference will be a number of outstanding technical specialists from the Soil Conservation Service's Regional and Washington offices. Among those attending from the Regional office at Upper Darby, will be Dr. Austin L. Patrick, Regional Director for the Northeast Region.

This meeting has been made possible, explained McKeever, through the cooperative effort of the School of Agriculture of Pennsylvania State College. A number of the outstanding specialists from the Extension Service and the Experiment Station will participate in the conference. Also attending and participating in the meeting will be representatives from State and Federal agencies who have interests in this important field.

Chinaxing the conference will be a banquet Thursday evening, Mar. 12, featuring as guest speakers Hon. Miles Horst, secretary of agriculture, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Robert M. Salter, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Attending this meeting will be Ralph G. Eckert, Work Unit Conservationist in Warren County.

YOUR FOREST RANGER

L. E. Stofz

In a few short weeks it will be "Cherry Blossom Time" in the Nation's Capitol, and visitors from all parts of the country will be on hand to view the impressive sight of magnificent Japanese cherry trees in full bloom.

In contrast to the conspicuous flowering stage of the Japanese cherry tree, and our own cultivated fruit trees at home the average forest tree puts on a rather dull show during the flowering stage. In fact one will usually find a hand lens a useful accessory to have along when studying the makeup of a single flower from the average forest tree.

An exception to this is the flowering stage of one of our most beautiful and useful local native trees, the yellow poplar.

This tree is also known as the tulip poplar, tulip wood, and just plain poplar. It is not, however, a member of the poplar family, but belongs to the genus Liriodendron.

The common name, tulip poplar, comes from the handsome tulip-shaped orange and yellow flowers which are about the size of the tulips that will soon spring up from bulbs planted in many front yards.

Yellow poplar is one of the few so-called "hardwoods" that produces lumber actually softer than some of the so-called "softwoods" such as some of the southern pines, thus demonstrating that there are exceptions to all man-made classifications.

It is a relatively scarce tree on the Allegheny National Forest, and it would be even rarer if it were not for the fact that as a "hardwood" it was not considered desirable for chemical wood. For this reason, scattered large trees, and also some fairly conspicuous small groves of this beautiful tree, can be seen towering high above the young second growth hardwoods which have since sprouted from the stumps of chemical wood clear cuttings, which fortunately spared the yellow poplar.

Although the range of this tree extends as far north as central New York State, and south to the Gulf of Mexico, with the Mississippi River its approximate western boundary, it can be considered today to be mostly a southern tree with the largest stands occurring in Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina and Alabama. Here in Dixie Land, mature trees may reach a diameter of 6 to 8 feet and heights of from 60 to 160 feet.

To see a particularly fine specimen of this noble tree, when in full bloom, towering tall and straight as the mast of a Clipper ship with its shiny four-lobed leaves glistening in the sunlight is to be reminded of Joyce Kilmer's inspiring poem, "Trees".

Unlike some of the most handsome and vain members of the human race, whose only virtues often are personal attractiveness, this tree has its utilitarian side too. After being a thing of beauty in the forest for several score years it best serves man by being harvested to yield any of a wide variety of useful products from caskets to apical supplies; from furniture to musical instruments, or from sporting and athletic goods to woodenware and novelties.

Save Farm Labor — Extension agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State College suggests using electrical equipment to do some of the farm chores. It can save labor and time, and many times it also reduces costs. They point out that farm labor is becoming scarcer and wages are at a new high.

Take Care of Lambs — The size of the lamb crop raised can make the difference between profit and loss in the sheep flock. Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist, says the good shepherd is prepared for the newborn lambs when they arrive. He has warm, dry quarters ready for winter lambing.

Plant Christmas Trees — It will soon be tree planting time. Walter Simonds, Penn State extension forester, reports that the most popular Christmas tree, with both the grower and the buyer, is Scotch pine. He suggests planting half of the plantation to this variety. It shears into a well-shaped tree.

Test for Lime Need — Soil acidity tests made by the Pennsylvania State College and county agents indicate that farming acid soils leads to much unnecessary waste on the farm. It requires only a few minutes to take a soil sample for making a test for lime.

Control Cattle Grubs — Rotonone is the only material recommended for cattle grub control, says Stanley Gesell, Penn State extension entomologist. Your county agricultural agent has directions for use of rotenone as a spray, wash or dust.
